

When to self-isolate and what to do:

What is self-isolation?

Self-isolation is when you do not leave your home because you have, or might have, coronavirus. Self-isolation helps stop the virus spreading to other people.

When should I self-isolate?

As soon as you have any symptoms of coronavirus (a high temperature, a new, continuous cough or a loss or change to your sense of smell or taste)	Self-isolate for 10 days
You've tested positive for coronavirus	Self-isolate for 10 days
You live with someone who has symptoms or who has tested positive	Self-isolate for 14 days
Someone in your support bubble has symptoms or has tested positive	Self-isolate for 14 days
You're told to self-isolate by NHS Test and Trace	Self-isolate for 14 days
You arrive in the UK from a country with a high coronavirus risk	Self-isolate for 14 days
A school has told a pupil to isolate as part of a bubble	Follow school guidance

How do I self-isolate?

- Do not go to work, school or public places – work from home if you can
- Do not go on public transport or use taxis
- Do not go out to get food and medicine – order it online or by phone, or ask someone to bring it to your home
- Do not have visitors in your home, including friends and family
- Do not go out to exercise – exercise at home or in your garden, if you have one
- The government has made it clear that you must not attend a workplace during your time of self-isolation.

What are the symptoms of coronavirus?

High temperature

New, continuous cough

Loss or change to your sense of smell or taste

Most people with coronavirus have at least one of these symptoms.

Help and support to self-isolate

If you need help or support to self-isolate, for example with collecting shopping or medicines, please visit: www.nhsvolunteerresponders.org.uk

If you need immediate support please call 01274 431000 (Monday to Friday 8am - 6pm).

Our friendly team can help by:

- putting you in touch with a local food bank
- sorting out a priority supermarket delivery slot
- helping with loneliness and getting someone to give you a call
- referring you for welfare support or debt advice

For more information about self-isolation, and the help and support available while staying at home, visit: www.nhs.uk/coronavirus

£500 financial support

If you are self-isolating and unable to work, you may be entitled to a support payment of £500.

Self-Isolating

You are required to self-isolate by law if you have tested positive or have been contacted by the NHS Test & Trace Service. You must isolate even if you have no symptoms.

Financial Support

A new Test & Trace Support Payment is available to support you if you are legally required to self-isolate and have reduced income because you are unable to work from home.

To get the Test & Trace Support Payment, you must be:

1. Asked to self-isolate by the NHS Test & Trace Service
2. Employed or self-employed
3. Unable to work from home and will lose income as a result
4. Currently receiving any of the following
 - Universal Credit
 - Working Tax Credit
 - Income-based Employment and Support Allowance
 - Income-based Jobseeker's Allowance
 - Income Support
 - Housing Benefit
 - Pension Credit

If you are not on any of the above benefits but meet all of the other criteria and are unable to work due to self-isolating, you can still apply.

You are not eligible if you continue to receive full wages during self-isolation or are able to work from home.

How to apply

You can apply online by completing a form on the Bradford Council website.

To apply you will need your:

1. National Insurance Number
2. Eight digit Test & Trace ID number
3. Most recent bank statement

Your bank statement must be within the last 2 months and show proof of earnings.

If you are self-employed you will need evidence of your earnings such as a recent business bank statement from within the last 2 months, your most recent set of accounts or evidence of self-assessment returns.

For more information please visit: www.bradford.gov.uk/testandtracesupport